2021 March	Press Release – Launch of Carolina Teachers Alliance https://drive.google.com/file/d/1T1vuXiGpTYCDoAKD6xAeWBLvqErfxU6C/view?usp=sharing	FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE March 29, 2021 Contact: Amy Marshall (919) 588-7225 ammarshall@carolinateachers.org NEW NORTH CAROLINA TEACHER ASSOCIATION LAUNCHES TO ADVOCATE FOR UNBIASED EDUCATION A new North Carolina teacher association launched this week to provide benefits and solidarity to teachers focused on traditional education, to unify parent voices, and to advocate for students' rights to learn without indoctrination. Carolina Teachers Alliance, a statewide organization based in Wake County and was founded by college subject and former Wake County Public Schools teacher, Amy Marshall. The announcement of Carolina Teachers Alliance's launch came a week after Lieutenant Governor Mark Robinson's announcement of the new anti-indoctrination law that, in effect, closed up the public push in some classrooms to ill-considered opinions to the radical W. L. Governor Robinson has endorsed Marshall's organization. "There is a need for an alternative NC teacher association one whose focus is on honoring the academic achievement of North Carolina's children without indoctrination in the classroom. Carolina Teachers Alliance has my full support," said Lieutenant Governor Robinson.
2021	"I am supportive of all groups that want to ensure that education is free from political agendas and are striving to give educators who are of the same mind an organization that will support them." -Mark Robinson, Lieutenant Governor of North Carolina, 2021 https://www.carolinateachers.org/
2021	"The more voices we bring to the table the better it is for public education as a whole. The newly-created Carolina Teachers Alliance brings together a group of teachers who have not always felt as though they had a seat at the table. I look forward to working with them and others to ensure that North Carolina continues to put our students first in every discussion." -Catherine Truitt, North Carolina Superintendent of Public Instruction, 2021 https://www.carolinateachers.org/

2021 June	Marshall Quote featured in Lt. Governor Robinson's Newsletter Amy Marshall, the founder, and President of Carolina Teachers Alliance considers, "Critical Race Theory as an ideology to divide students against one another." Many examples can be found at Carolina Teachers Alliance's online "WCPSS Indoctrination Binder" at this link: http://www.tinyurl.com/wcpssindoctrination. Marshall fears that teaching it in schools, "could create a generation of anti-American kids who don't believe that America is a great place, and who don't believe in American democracy". https://mailchi.mp/634acb9a7a42/newsletter-from-the-office-of-the-lieutenant-governor-4999929?fbclid=IwAR2O8Q6pnjTh3_w7wKr6ly_o0KSzXDJUKXwHSdK-wYmlSfjWVGgwoW2n0w https://drive.google.com/file/d/1i6WsJ7ZbfQZ_i54-E1FqpPW89SrnOV07/view?usp=sharing
